

2004 Annual Report

College Station Police Department

2004 College Station City Council

City Manager Tom Brymer

City of College Station
Police Department
Chief Michael J. Clancey

To the Mayor, City Council and Citizens of College Station:

On behalf of the members of the College Station Police Department, I am pleased to present our 2004 Annual Report.

During the past year the men and women of this Department handled over 60,000 calls for service. The professionalism of these employees helped to solve a number of serious incidents while they continued to assist the citizens of and visitors to the City of College Station whenever asked. In addition, the College Station Police Department continued to grow under the leadership of Police Chief Edgar Feldman. The staff became more involved with the community they serve during the year and in the process the Department was able to establish many friendships and bonds.

In addition, the Department was honored by being reaccredited for the fourth time since its initial accreditation in 1991. The College Station Police Department is only one of 18 "municipal" police agencies in the State of Texas to be accredited by the Commission of Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA). Furthermore, we take pride in the fact that our Communications Division is only one of two accredited Police Communication Centers in the state.

As the city continues to grow, the requirements and expectations for law enforcement assistance have impacted the police department. However, thanks to the outstanding efforts and commitments of our staff, we have met the challenge and continue innovative projects to address future issues.

In conclusion, I would like to thank the members of the City Council, and the community for their support. Due to their exceptional support, we are able to enhance our problem solving and crime prevention efforts. By virtue of this backing and hard work, we continue to make the City of College Station a great place to live and work.

Sincerely,

Michael J. Clancey
Chief of Police

In March 1994, dispatching of fire and ambulance calls for the City of College Station was moved from the central fire station to the police department. College Station dispatchers also celebrated their tenth anniversary as the first Emergency Medical Dispatch (EMD) program in Brazos County. EMD is where pre-arrival instructions are given to 911 callers through the use of medical priority flip cards. Assistance can be given to 911 callers until the arrival of emergency medical personnel. This assistance can be as complex as CPR instructions or as simple as gathering medications, unlocking doors and securing pets. Communications Operator Farah Peterson is shown at left.

College Station officers responded and were met by the victims who pointed to a male walking into the backyard of 1101 Oakhaven as the person that they had seen with the gun. Due to the fact that the intentions of the suspect were unknown, SWAT and the Hostage Negotiation Team (HNT) responded to the scene. Numerous attempts to contact the man inside the home were made by telephone but no one would answer. At approximately 0240 hours on August 12th telephone contact was made with the suspect by HNT. Reinhardt came out of his home and was taken into custody. He was charged with Deadly Conduct.

In addition, another major function of this section is to coordinate the field training programs for all newly hired civilian and sworn employees. This training consists of programs that are taught by both internal and external instructors. During 2004, our employees participated in a total of 27,312 contact hours of training. This is slightly higher than 2003. Internal training courses comprised 11,546 hours of the training attended. Orientation and Field Training made up 10,744 contact hours of the training, and was as usual, one of the most time consuming duties for the Recruiting and Training Division. External training accounted for 5,823 hours of the total. Academy hours accounted for of the total of 1,264 hours. Throughout 2004, as in years past, our officers continued to take advantage of the ability to take the required core courses, as well as others, by means of correspondence. The advantage to this is that these types of courses may be taken at any time and the officer taking the course is able to learn at his/her own pace without any time away from their regular duty assignments.

During 2004, the Training Division coordinated several training seminars that were open to College Station Police Department employees as well as to law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

They provide emergency medical pre-arrival instruction via telephone so emergency treatment can begin before EMS personnel are on scene. In 2004, communications personnel answered 259,020 total telephone calls with 54% of the calls being received between the hours of 8:00 AM and 5:00 PM. Out of the total telephone calls received, 15,831 were 911 calls.

The program offers both high school credit, and through a cooperative agreement with Blinn College, can offer college credits to students who successfully complete the classes. They will have the chance to show their skills at competition events with other Explorer's Posts at competitions across the state.

Citizen Police Academy - As always the Citizen Police Academy continues to be one of the most popular programs ever implemented by the department. Students who attend the academy obtain a unique perspective on the day to day operations of the department and what it means to be a police officer. Department personnel serving as instructors benefit from the input and fresh ideas that sometimes come from academy students. Members of the department also benefit from the level of support and understanding shown by current and previous attendees of the academy. The "routine" contacts the officers and citizens have, where the citizen has recently witnessed or been victimized by a crime, incident, or accident, are highly stressful situations, in which positive contacts are difficult. A total of 13 citizens graduated from the 34th session that was held in the spring of 2004.

Uniformed Division

Patrol Section - This section is responsible for the preliminary response and investigation of calls for service, traffic enforcement, accident investigation and parking control. Bicycle Patrol Unit

This section, consisting of four police officers, was formed to improve the cooperation and relations between the police department and the citizens of College Station through enhanced community policing methods. The K-9 Unit serves in a support role for all of the various divisions within the department. In 2004, the unit was assigned to the evening shift. It responds to crimes in progress, alarms and backup requests from other officers. The unit compliments patrol with its tracking, building searching and article (evidence) recovery abilities. The unit is also a part of the only explosive detecting team in the Brazos Valley and responds to calls needing this type of assistance.

Special Weapons and Tactics - SWAT

2004 Annual Report

This unit is composed of sworn personnel selected from any of the divisions in the department. It serves as a “collateral duty” unit, meaning that all members of the team serve full time in other assignments within the department, and volunteer to respond to situations requiring qualifications and skills that are outside those of the average patrol officer. Specially selected members of the team are trained as “Bomb Technicians”, and all members are trained in support for bomb squad operations. In 2004, SWAT responded to the following 17 incidents:

Barricaded Person Situations	1
Dignitary Protection Details	4
Bomb Calls	8
High Risk Warrant Service.....	3
Other Situations.....	1

The Barricaded Person call involved a person who fired shots into his neighbors house and then retreated inside his residence when patrol officers arrived. Of the bomb calls handled in 2004, 4 involved suspicious packages or items believed to be military ordinance that were not “live” devices. Two were “live” items, one was an improvised device and the other was a military ordinance. Finally, the bomb squad responded to 2 other calls, one being a probable hoax device and the other was regarding a bomb in a known location which turned out to be a mis-communication between the reporting person and the FBI. The dignitary protection details involved Former President George Bush, an Official of the Iranian Government and California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Hostage Negotiation Team - HNT

This unit is composed of volunteer officers from various divisions of the department. It serves as a “part-time” “on call” unit to respond to situations requiring a tactical response. Members of the team receive specialized training in crisis negotiations and have been appointed by the Chief to serve in that capacity.

While the Hostage Negotiation Team responded to only one call out in 2004, they continued their commitment to improve their negotiation skills by training at least once a month. The team trains using “real life” scenarios and twice a year the unit participates in joint training with SWAT. The team also participated in a training competition in San Marcos in January 2004 (left). Team members also made several presentations in 2004. The call that the Hostage Negotiation

Team responded to occurred in August 2004 when a subject fired a weapon at a neighbors house and then retreated inside his home. After attempting to contact the subject by telephone for approximately three hours, the man came out of his house and was taken into custody.

SIU assisted the FBI Joint Terrorism Task Force in a major on-going investigation.

Crime Victims Advocate—The College Station Police Department has developed a comprehensive program designed to assist victims, witnesses, families or citizens that are experiencing difficult times. When crime or trauma happens, the effects can be deep and long lasting. The expertise of the department's Advocate, Kendra Watson (right), can cover a wide variety of topics such as depression, sexual assault, child abuse, elderly needs, suicide, homicide, family issues, stalking, identity theft, domestic violence or juvenile concerns. Services include, but are not limited to: short-term counseling, family counseling, referral to local social service providers, preparation for a criminal trial and explaining the criminal justice system based on the individual situation.

Angel Tree Project— During the 2004 Christmas season, the College Station Police Department displayed a Christmas tree in the police department lobby to honor victims of violent crime. Families of those victims were asked to place an angel on the tree in honor of their loved one. Victims of violent crime include victims of sexual assault, murder, intoxication manslaughter or intoxication assault, crimes against children or acts of domestic violence. This was the first year that the College Station Police Department had an "Angel Tree."

Complaints and Internal Affairs Investigations

The nature of police service demands that a high degree of integrity be maintained by the department as a whole, and by each individual member. As a police agency, we must be worthy of the trust placed in us by the public. The level of this trust is by a large measure, affected by the responsiveness of the department to allegations of misconduct, whether serious or minor. For this reason, departmental policy stipulates that all complaints, regardless of degree, are thoroughly investigated.
